

PROMOTIONAL FEATURE

A home care company with a European touch

Watching your parents or loved ones grow older is a blessing and a challenge.

Although caring for your loved one may be rewarding, it may also be very draining both physically and emotionally as they will need a little more assistance performing daily tasks. People often turn to assisted living facilities or nursing homes, but for most people aging in their own home is much more meaningful.

The folks at Euro Homecare make it their mission to keep your loved ones well taken care of in the comfort of their own home. They strive to take the weight off your shoulders and give you peace of mind by well-trained and highly experienced caregivers to care for your loved ones. Their caregivers deliver unique and personal attention to create the best quality care.

Euro Homecare was established in 2003 by Elizabeth Darmoros. Darmoros began her career as a nurse's aide at a convalescent home in New Britain. The vast majority of the population of patients there were primarily immigrants of Polish descent.

Elizabeth Darmoros and her family.

"My ability to speak a foreign language (Polish) was a benefit for those clients in need of multilingual caregivers. Unlike any other caregiver on our staff, it was an incredible advantage for me to communicate with those patients who had never learned English," said Darmoros. "With the growing number of non-English speaking patients who required Polish, Russian, or Italian assistance, it became increasingly more difficult to assist every nationality. As the need for being multilingual increased, it prompted me to create a business plan to accommodate that market niche. I ventured out on my own, developed a way to deliver home care at the next level, thus, Euro Homecare, LLC, a home care company with a European touch was born."

Euro Homecare is a family-based business with son Daniel serving as the company technology resource, and daughter-in-law Anna, the office administrator.

Upon consulting with Euro Homecare, they will evaluate your family to assess the caregiver qualities that you are looking for and match you with the perfect caregiver that meets those qualities.

They take pride in their caregivers and their remarkable performance and look forward to working with your family and servicing your loved ones!
